TO MEET ON MAY 10

Russian National Assembly Is Called by Czar's Ukase

ANNOUNCEMENT IS MADE

Minister Timirizoff May Withdraw His Resignation—The Cabinet Will Have to Make Its Policy
Milder.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 27.—An imperial ukase was issued yesterday announcing that the national assembly will meet May 30.

M. A. D. Speyer, the Russian minister at Teheran, Persia, has been relieved of his post on the ground of ill health.

M. Timirizoff, the minister of commerce, who resigned February 19, said yesterday that no decision regarding the withdrawal of his resignation had been taken, but if he is given assurances of a sufficient change in the policy of the government, M. Timirizoff is willing to yield to the pressure brought to bear upon him and will remain in the cabinet.

The minister, who had a long conference with Premier Witte Sunday night, will have another meeting with the premier, and may be able to announce his decision today.

These negotiations, to which the way was paved by the personal work of Neuchatoff, minister of communication; Prince Alexis Obolensky, procurator general of the Holy Synod; M. Filossloff, controller of the empire, and other prominent Liberals, have been very quietly conducted and only a slight intimation of their purpose has reached the public.

Feeding Green Cut Bone Pays.

Mr. A. F. Hunter, who is one of the regular contributors to the New England Farmer, not long ago said in the columns of that paper: "Feeding fresh cut bone to fowls, to induce abundant laying, has proved a decidedly profitable thing. The bones are rich in animal matter and contain lime, of which the egg shell is made, and hens fed on fresh cut bone will lay a larger number of eggs than if fed no bone. Not only will they lay a larger number of eggs, but the eggs will be stronger-bodied, will be better eggs, and if incubated will have better and stronger chicks." C. S. Page of Hyde Park, Vt., on receipt of $3.50 will forward to anyone a 200-pound barrel of Green Cut Bone, prepaying railroad freight to any place in New England or New York.

HEALTH FOR THE HOG.

Disease Prevented by Sanitary Housing and Feeding.

By GEORGE M. ROMMEL, bureau of animal industry.

Hogs must be given dry and well ventilated quarters, which must be kept clean. Contrary to common belief, hogs have some habits which raise them above other domestic animals from the standpoint of cleanliness. For example, unless compelled to do so, a hog will not sleep in its own filth. If part of the floor of the pen is raised and kept well bedded with straw, while the rest is not, all excrement will be left on the unbedded portion of the floor, and the bed itself will always be clean. Feeding and drinking places should be clean and the water supply pure. Unless the water is known to be uncontaminated and there has been no possibility of infection during the course hogs should not be allowed access to streams. Wallows should be kept filled up as much as possible. At least once a month the quarters should be disinfected with air-slaked lime or a 3 per cent solution of crude carbolic acid. If a hog dies from any cause the carcass should be burned or buried and the pens thoroughly disinfected at once.

Breeding and Feeding.

While inbreeding is the surest and quickest means to fix type, the system weakens vitality unless very carefully followed. For this reason closely inbred hogs are more susceptible to cholera than those whose constitutions have not been impaired by the system. The straight cross diet which many hogs receive from one year's end to the other also lessens vitality, and the researches of the Wisconsin experiment station have shown that this is probably brought about by actually retarding the development of the vital organs. A minimum inbreeding and a varied diet, including, especially for breeding stock, ample range, will therefore better enable the herd to resist the attacks of disease.

Isolated Houses.

The advantage of a number of small portable houses, each accommodating a few hogs, rather than one large pigery for the entire breed, has been discovered by many breeders. In districts where cholera is prevalent these are undoubtedly the best shelters. They make it more difficult to carry contagion to all animals in the herd, and the destruction of one of them in case of an outbreak does not entail a great expense. An added advantage is that they may be moved from place

FEDERAL COURT BEGINS.

Regular February Term at Burlington Today

Burlington, Feb. 27.—The regular February term of the United States district and circuit courts for the district of Vermont began today at the county court house. Judge Hoyt H. Wheeler will preside. The officers of the court are: George E. Johnson, clerk; James L. Martin, district attorney; Horace W. Bailey, marshal; F. H. Chapman, L. D. Miles, Charles C. Graves, Thomas Reeves and E. S. Whitaker, deputies; Annie M. Brown, stenographer.

The following cases are set for trial: Samuel D. Wilson vs. Percival W. Clement, set by plaintiff; Rufus E. Hilliard vs. Elias Lyman, et al., set by plaintiff and defendants; Gilman B. Wilson vs. William C. Freedley, set by defendant; Abbie J. Elliott, admx., vs. Canadian Pacific Railway, set by plaintiff; George F. Kimball, administrator, vs. John W. Merrow, set by defendant. If all these cases are tried the term will interfere with the opening of Chittenden county court on Wednesday.

Chief interest is centered in the famous $50,000 slander suit of Wilson vs. Clement, which has been in the courts since 1902. The case is set for trial by the plaintiff, who came to the city Saturday and who is anxious for a hearing.

The Kimball vs. Merrow case is a $50,000 suit for alleged malpractice against Dr. John W. Merrow, who has set it for trial. The case of Elliott vs. the Canadian Pacific is an old case and was first tried in Burlington at the February term in 1903, the plaintiff receiving a verdict. There are also several matters to come to the attention of the grand jury at this term.

to place as needed. While more work is necessary in feeding, the convenience and safety from their use more than offset this disadvantage.

POPULAR GARDENING

Nitrate of soda and kainit are sometimes used as a dressing for land before sowing seeds or setting plants likely to be attacked by the cutworm. Kainit is said to be especially good against the insects infesting onion beds.

Most seed will admit of being sown moderately thick, but it is a mistake to sow too thickly, as the plants become weak from overcrowding. Much time is lost in thinning out, and the ground becomes impoverished.

Get busy as soon as the weather permits if you do not wish to see your neighbors gather their first crops days or weeks ahead of yourself.

As soon as the soil becomes dry enough to work no time should be lost over making the first planting of peas, spinach, onions and others of the more hardy vegetables, using as much thoroughly decayed manure as your means will permit.

Beets and kohlrabi may be started indoors early in March and after being hardened in frames placed outdoors about April 15.

Make up the hotbeds now and sow tomatoes, peppers, cabbage, lettuce, radishes, etc.

Snakes' Eyes.

The serpent is perfectly liable, crawling as it does on the ground in sandy and dusty localities, to injuries of the eyes, and this organ is therefore protected by being placed under the skin or outer epidermis. When a snake sheds its skin, which it does three or four times a year, the skin of the eyes comes off with the rest.

Quill Pens.

Quill pens are prepared for use by soaking them, drying them in hot sand, scraping them so as to remove the outer skin, then hardening them in diluted nitric acid.

Iron Engagement Rings.

Among the Egyptians engagement rings were always of iron, indicating the mutual sacrifice of liberty. One of the earliest gems used in the engagement ring was the loadstone, which symbolized the force of attraction which drew the maiden from her own family into another.

Gunderic.

The first king of the Vandals was Gunderic, who succeeded the throne in 408 A. D. Their last king was Gelimer, 531-534.

The Willow.

The willow has such a wonderful vitality that, even when the interior is so far gone from decay that only the shell of the tree remains the appearance of life in green leaves and foliage will still prevail.

Kind of Corn and Soil.

The kind of corn must depend on the locality. That kind will be best which gives the largest amount of fodder regardless of ear production, provided the fodder is so fine that it will be practically all eaten and that it reaches a stage of maturity almost perfected before it is cut. It is greatly important that the corn shall be nearly mature when it is harvested and that it shall be harvested before it has been injured by frost.

Such corn will grow well on any kind of drained and rich land, but in northern areas sandy loams are better adapted to its growth than clays, as on the former it grows more quickly and is therefore more certain to mature sufficiently before it is injured by frost. Grass or clover is the best crop to precede fodder corn. The roots of the corn reveal amid the moisture and nutrient furnished by the decaying grass roots.

Colossus of Rhodes.

The existence of the Colossus of Rhodes is considered by some historians extremely doubtful. There is no evidence that the ancients were able to cast pieces of metal of such size as must have entered into its composition.

Horsemen.

Never strain the voice in the effort to speak while horseback. Wait until the horse's voice is recovered from, or the voice may be permanently injured or diminished of the throat produced.

The Battle of the Brothers.

The Battle of the Brothers was fought at Fontenay in 541. It was fought by the armies of the three sons of Louis the Good, Netherland, and a dispute about their respective dominions. Over 100,000 men are said to have perished in this terrible conflict, which ended in the reign of Vermander and the peace of partition of the empire in 561.

CONFIRMED PROOF.

Residents of Barre Cannot Doubt What Has Been Twice Proved.

In gratitude for complete relief from aches and pains of had backs—from distressing kidney ills—thousands have publicly recommended Doan's Kidney Pills. Residents of Barre, who so testified years ago, now say their cures were permanent. This testimony doubly proves the worth of Doan's Kidney Pills to Barre kidney sufferers.

G. W. Brown, carpenter, of 11 Brook street, Barre, Vt., says: "Since I gave my first statement recommending Doan's Kidney Pills some eight years ago I have never failed to advise their use whenever occasion has arisen. I had retained myself as it affected my kidneys and weakened my back. I paid little attention to it at first, but my back kept getting worse and worse and there was considerable difficulty with the kidney secretions, which were highly colored and very annoying especially at night. I learned of Doan's Kidney Pills and procured a box at E. A. Drown's drug store. After I had taken them a few days I noticed the pain in my back was not so bad and the kidney secretions were becoming more natural. I continued using Doan's Kidney Pills until entirely free from my former troubles. Since that time I have used them on different occasions when I have suffered from slight attacks and always with success, and I have recommended them to others time and time again. In the case of a friend who was suffering from a bad case of kidney trouble the use of this remedy absolutely cured him."

FOOD FOR DAIRY COWS.

The Northern Farmer Can Practically Keep Away From the Mill Man.

With bran at $18 to $22 a ton and still climbing and other mill foods proportionately high, it is very evident that the dairyman must leave the purchase of these foods to some one else. He must try to raise foods that will take the place of these purchased mill foods. And happily he can, says Professor Thomas Shaw in Orange Judd Farmer. In all the northern states the dairy farmer can keep practically away from the mill man. He may do so in other states, but he can do so more easily in the northern and mountain states than in other areas. How can he do it? By growing fodder corn and roots.

There is no state along the American boundary in which first class fodder corn cannot be successfully grown. And there is no province of Canada on the Canadian side in which the same may not be done. In some of these it may be more successfully done than in others, but it may be successfully done in them all.
